

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to highly recommend Will Jarvis-Cross as an outstanding candidate for a full-time software engineering position. As Will's manager during his internship at Super.com, I have had the pleasure of witnessing his exceptional skills, dedication, and enthusiasm for software development.

Will joined our team as a software engineering intern, and throughout his tenure, he consistently demonstrated a strong grasp of programming languages, problem-solving abilities, and willingness to dive into new and challenging areas of our services. His technical proficiency, particularly in JavaScript, Node, and React, was evident in the successful completion of several projects, including large fullstack features and overhauls of our 2-way chat system.

In addition to his technical skills, Will demonstrated a strong work ethic and eagerness to learn. He consistently sought opportunities to expand his knowledge, and willingly took on challenges where our team had little expertise. By the end of his term, Will had become the go-to person for one of our critical backend (Node) services. Will's ability to work collaboratively with colleagues and stakeholders greatly enhanced the overall efficiency and success of our projects.

I am confident that Will's strong technical foundation, coupled with his interpersonal skills and commitment to excellence, make him an ideal candidate for a full-time software engineering role. I have no doubt that he will continue to excel and contribute significantly to any organization fortunate enough to have him on board.

Thank you for considering Will Jarvis-Cross for a position at your company. I fully endorse his application and believe he will make a valuable contribution to your team.

Sincerely,

Kevin MacPhee
